- 7:22 simmontemplar: Comment Molly: This situation has been explored in the HBM when we try to stay in Attention and hold back the will of the machine. Is that the metaphor of "pain"?
- » and question
- » is this any different ?

- simmontemplar: now we are gaining clarity, objectivity\, in the face of death
 - auriah: be willing, wanting and inted to go
 - pathworld: i go to the way point and meditate
 - auriah: it seems that I can feel it slipping away that space and serenity, and find myself clinging and trying desperately to go back. the more I try the less I go...
 - pathworld: i go to hell in d2 h c and play ?
 - hawklady: attention either on my HBM or on anything particular, will open the space for me.
 - mollymidway: (Iven here) with the intention of voyaging....
 - auriah: but when I stop and see and laugh at my clinging, I simply sit, and remember where I was and how it felt and it opens up and I'm there again
 - hawklady: it could be the voice of someone, even a movie or listening to the news,
- » that's nice Ivan, believeing in what limitation we have; because there is none, we place it there
- starshaper: I diffuse my attention out into the surroundings and beyond and feel love.
