- 7:41 pathworld: yep it does
- 7:46 mollymidway: a) hushed stillness
- 7:46 auriah: a hushed silence/stillness

» isolation/timelessness

- 7:47 mollymidway: ty
- 7:47 auriah: completeness, the chamber doesn't need anything more

» a hermetic seal - those that should be there will be there

- 7:48 mollymidway: A hushed stillness - church-like
- 7:48 auriah: Elements to recognize the chamber/space
- 7:49 mollymidway: Isolation - a feeling of timelessness
- 7:49 auriah: *elements
- 7:49 mollymidway: A feeling of completeness - the chamber needs nothing outside itself to sustain itself
- » A hermetic seal - through which no unauthorized visitors may pass during its use.

» Every object and every inhabitant of the chamber has a definite place in the chamber - everyone and everything belongs there and what is not there does not belong there; everything in the chamber is native to it. ~ from Secret Talks IX page 122

- 7:55 hawklady: I quesiton, prayer - not the state of prayer, but actaully praying? Is that giving power away?

- 7:58 jim\_h:
- 7:58 markroche: and the more we can be in that state, approximating the absolute, we are, as we have read elsewhere,
 » taking on some of the burden of the Absolute and thus relieving it somewhat
- 7:59 hawklady: ah, that was a joke to David's question, on what is our life.
- 7:59 markroche: and since most prayers it seems reduce to praying for love, one couldn't better serve love than » through that method.
- 8:00 mollymidway: yes that is good
- 8:00 muspelspark:
- 8:00 jim\_h: Spirit Absolute = Holy Ghost ?
- 8:01 markroche: which is to say, both embodying love, by somewhat stepping into the Absolute
- 8:01 hawklady: oh, very good Mark
- 8:01 markroche: and also serving love by taking on some of the burden
- 8:01 hawklady: Mark
- 8:03 jim\_h: I feel we invoked the presence of the Son (Love) tonight
- 8:04 markroche: which seems to go right back to the art of dying to the small i.
- 8:04 mollymidway: give the Love a place to stand by standing in Love
- 8:04 hawklady: Although there is more than 20 of us, the space was very light to be in. Very interesting Jim.
