- 7:12 Lost horizon Hello, all
- 7:12 Silverdale Of course ...!
- 7:12 Lost horizon He's irrational, but transcendental
- 7:12 Skafooti eternal fraction
- 7:13 Markroche just got here, Hi Campers, Mark from Los Angeles
- 7:13 Melissalorca Hi Mark
- 7:15 Pathworld ello Jenny-- Corona
- 7:16 Lost horizon welcome
- 7:22 Sierr a Exodus 3:5
- 7:25 Piandjo Piandjo--Harry in Austin
- 7:25 Lost horizon Dan - Grass Valley
- 7:26 Silverdale George - Seattle
- 7:26 PRO Puzzletricks Kye - Central PA
- 7:26 Winnipeg9 here
- 7:29 PRO Gnosticman Despite the mysterious quality of the Obligatory Readers Invocation, each line is somehow familiar. We recognize something known within us.
In the Obligatory Reader's Prayer we hear our Essential Self speak ... having separated itself from identification with the HBM our Essential Self describes where it is and what it is experiencing ...
- 7:30 Silverdale Well said - Gnostic ...
- 7:37 Simmontemplar Yes Judy, ...The "Eternal Unborn"... Resident
- 7:38 Skafooti and the PROTECTOR, so beautiful!
- 7:38 Simmontemplar It grabbed me too, ...The Lord of Death
- 7:40 Skafooti Osho wrote a great book on this, The Message Beyond Worlds, a dialogue with the Lord of Death
- 7:40 Majickphoenixx That very act increases your understanding...
- 7:43 PRO Gnosticman The more attention we can bring to the reading the more we align with the archetype, the eternal reader. We give the Reader substance so it can be real to the recipient.
- 7:44 Silverdale Well said - Gnostic ...
- 7:44 PRO Puzzletricks beautiful.
- 7:45 Skafooti We give the reader substance for the Other and also reminding ourself of the silence, of the guide, of the protection, etc. and as we do it over and over and integrate this into our Being, we become the Silence when we read.
- 7:45 Markroche With respect to what Skafooti wrote, another repeating pattern in the Obligatory readers Invocation is 'The Divine Silence'. Would love to hear more about peoples thoughts about this
It seems to be a strong central theme of the Invocation like what you wrote Skafooti about we become the Silence
- 7:47 Skafooti Voice of the Silence, Blavatsky.....a classic regarding the Divine Silence
- 7:49 Simmontemplar Thank you Ska for those books references !!...
- 7:51 Markroche And the Divine Silence is referenced with each of the beings that are invoked. Another related question is since there is nothing but the Clear Light, are all the beings being invoked totally different, or are they different facets of the same thing?
- 7:52 Silverdale A fundamental characteristic of higher consciousness is Silence, that is, the absence of Sound and Motion, the absence of fracturing and fragmentation, the absence of dissonance .. it is the felt, sensed, perceived awareness of the Unity of Everything Existing ...
- 7:54 Markroche There was a well known spiritual group that actually gave Spiritual Achievement of the Year awards -lol

- 7:55 Lost horizon Behind each apparently separate being is the Divine Silence. It's to the Divine Silence that is offered homage, love, hope, and gratitude
- 7:55 Simmontemplar that's something Dan !!! sorry that message was for Mark !!
- 7:57 Markroche so then, if they are not separate beings, then each phrase seems like a sort different 'hook' so as to make it more accessible from lots of different angles.
It is also the page that throughout the 49 day reading that is read, by far, the most!

It is the constant refrain.

- 8:03 Simmontemplar Nice point Mark
- 8:03 PRO Puzzletricks I envision The Invocation as the bell strike that breaks open the egg of the world
- 8:03 Silverdale I like that Puzzle ...
- 8:04 Lost horizon Mark - to me, it's the same as throughout the book, where the voyager is directed to turn attention from the visions back to the clear light
- 8:04 Piandjo very nice, Puzzletricks poetic and to the point
- 8:05 Lost horizon Yes
- 8:09 Skafooti Yes, Puzzle, makes a crack for the light to get in.....
- 8:09 Markroche Yes Lost, and am just making the point that the page we are discussing is clearly extraordinarily vital. Claude once told me that memorizing both the Invocation and the Clear Light reading is a good thing to do.
- 8:09 PRO Puzzletricks Is that a Cohen reference?
- 8:09 Skafooti ABSOLUTELY! Love Leonard!
- 8:10 PRO Puzzletricks
